The alpha and omega the beginning and the end.

It may so happen that Greece which was the cradle of western civilisation and a mother of democracy may also become the graveyard for both. As its last confession - the referendum, will soon tell.

If Greece votes no, and grexit away from euro currency union and reverts to drakhma, defaults and devalues, sinking some key european and may be even the bigger banks along, that would undermine the importance of the western civilisation vs. east. It is not exactly clear if there is likely to be banking crisis but if some big bank sinks, it is unlikely that the scale of the crisis will be easily tackled with more QE and bailouts.

Western financial system will receive blow, that it will be difficult to sustain while it is likely that the new shareholders from the failed banks will be from southeast asia or middle east if they decide to help. While the same investors are likely to buy anything that will be offered in Greek privatisation.

While if it votes yes, it is unlikely that Greece will be able to solve its problems in the euro straightjacket by cutting more deficits and liabilities. So it is not exactly clear how it will solve eventually solve its debt problem. One solution lies in privatisation. The will probably will still depend on the same SWFs from southeast asia or middle east to privatise its assets, which will probably mean the same dilution of western civilisation.

Upon globalisation, the fusion of the 3 worlds is inevitable, while it is ironic that grexit is catalyzing this.

We briefly examine the implications to countries in our focus.

Russia may be a small winner in either case. Russia has already embarked on the path East. Sanctions are likely to play far less important role for a world sinking in chaos. While more bailouts will require much more gentle treatment of Russians by the Europeans. However if Russia will feel empowered to far more stupid things, that is a wildcard. As we understand Russia is taking a big effort to repatriate the volunteers from eastern Ukraine so that Minsk agreements hold. We therefore think that Russia will be relatively supported anyway.

Turkey may be another player whose position will be strengthened by Grexit. As its lying exactly east of Greece on the old Silk Road

China, will be also supported given that it is a key player with money so much needed to jump start Greece. Furthermore its reach out to another destination means better globalisation and perhaps means more accessibility for China local markets. China language is important already anyway but there will be many more people that are likely to learn Mandarin and even Cantonese.

China stocks have been correcting given the huge rally, and may be still weak in July but that is likely to reverse in August on our view.

India stocks have ran out of steam in June, and overall this year. We remain neutral on Indian stocks in the second half of the year with no new catalysts in sight except for this ambitious headline growth. In fact the best case for India if the globe avoids disturbances, otherwise India's toppish valuations may lose some froth.

South Korea stocks can be susceptible if the global trade will be disturbed, In the last couple of year Korean stocks offered third solid story in southeast asia with fairly limited downside.

South Africa may somewhat benefit if gold prices react positively to higher risk. Though it looks as more insulated market to if risk aversion looms.

Brazil may sell off a bit, but the downside is limited. In fact we are turning more positive on Brazil in the last couple of months, as we sense that a turnaround is near.

Our Stance

India stocks have ran out of steam in June, and overall this year. We remain neutral on Indian stocks in the year with no new catalysts in sight except for this ambitious headline growth. In fact the best case for Indi disturbances, otherwise India's toppish valuations may lose some froth.

While some economic events and news headlines

Monday June 15 2015

India WPI Deflation Eases in May

Indian wholesale prices fell 2.36 percent year-on-year in May of 2015, following a 2.65 percent drop in the index as a decline in petrol prices eased while food cost slowed. The index has been in the negative territory since April.

Friday June 12 2015

India Consumer Inflation Rises to 5.01% in May

Consumer prices in India increased 5.01 percent year-on-year in May of 2015, compared to 4.87 percent in April. The rise matched market expectations as cost of transport rose and prices of fuel and light advanced at a faster pace.

Tuesday June 02 2015

India Cuts Repo Rate for a Third Time This Year

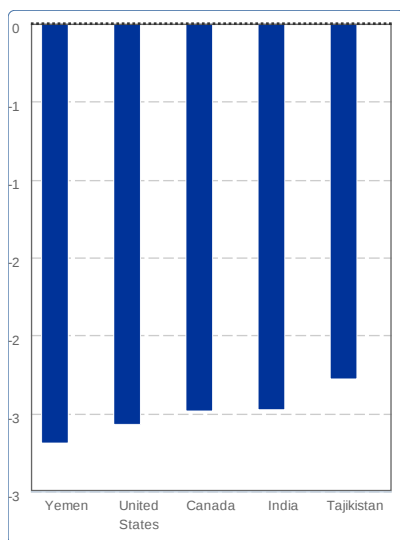

The Reserve Bank of India cut its benchmark policy rate by 25 bps to 7.25 percent as expected during the meeting, saying that the move is a more appropriate given low capacity utilization, mixed indicators of recovery, and investment and credit growth.

Russia

Our Stance

Russia may be a small winner in either case. Russia has already embarked on the path East. Sanctions are less important role for a world sinking in chaos. While more bailouts will require much more gentle treatment the Europeans. However if Russia will feel empowered to far more stupid things, that is a wildcard. As we is taking a big effort to repatriate the volunteers from eastern Ukraine so that Minsk agreements hold. We Russia will be relatively supported anyway.

While some economic events and news headlines

Wednesday July 01 2015

South Korea Inflation Rate at 5-Month High

South Korean annual inflation rate was at 0.7 percent in June of 2015, up from 0.5 percent in May and market consensus. It is the highest inflation since January this year, as prices of food and non-alcoholic beverages increased while the decline in cost of transport eased.

Wednesday July 01 2015

South Korea Trade Surplus Hits Fresh Record High in June

South Korea trade surplus was at USD 10.25 billion in June of 2015, up from USD 5.35 billion a year earlier market consensus. It is the largest surplus on record, as imports fell more than exports.

Thursday June 11 2015

Bank of Korea Cuts Rate to Fresh Record Low of 1.5%

The Bank of Korea decided to cut the base rate by 25 bps to fresh record low of 1.5 percent on June 11th, the first adjustment this year. Policymakers judged downside risks to the economy have expanded, mostly due to fears of MERS outbreak.

Wednesday June 10 2015

South Korea Jobless Rate Up to 3.9% in May

South Korea seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was recorded at 3.9 percent in May of 2015, up from 3.7 percent in April, previous month and missing market forecasts, as unemployment grew faster than employment.

Thursday June 04 2015

South Korea GDP Growth Matches Estimates in Q1

The South Korean economy advanced by 0.8 percent on quarter in the first quarter of 2015, accelerating from 0.7 percent in the previous period and matching preliminary estimates, as a rebound in investment and a slight consumption offset a slowdown in exports.

Thursday June 04 2015

South Korea GDP Growth Slows in Q1

The South Korean economy advanced by 2.5 percent year-on-year in the first quarter of 2015, slowing from 2.6 percent in the previous period but above preliminary estimates. It is the lowest growth rate since the second quarter of 2012, as an increase in investment and consumption were not enough to offset a slowdown in exports.

Tuesday June 02 2015

South Korea Inflation Edges Up in May

South Korean annual inflation rate increased to 0.5 percent in May of 2015 from 0.4 percent in April, matching market forecasts. Prices of food and non-alcoholic beverages surged and a decline in cost of transport eased.

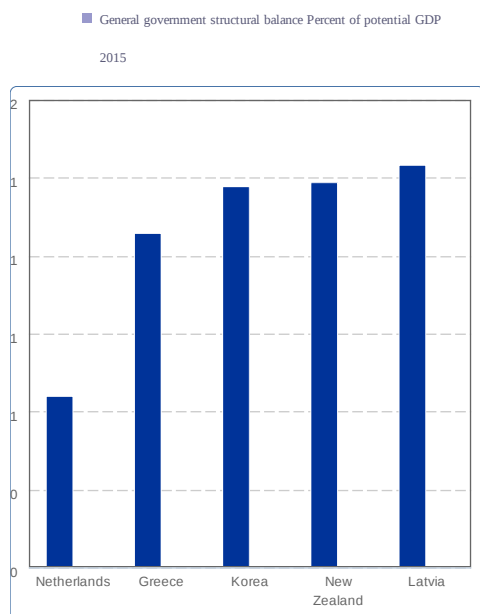

Monday June 01 2015

South Korea Trade Surplus Falls from Record High in May

South Korea trade surplus was at USD 6.32 billion in May of 2015, up from USD 4.97 billion a year earlier market consensus, down from a record high of USD 8.48 billion in the preceding month, as imports fell more than exports.
