Saudi Arabia domestic markets corrected significantly in March on the back insurgency in Yemen. Saudi Arabia, allies launched air strikes in Yemen against Houthi fighters. These fighters are a Zaidi

Shia group which takes its name from Hussein Badreddin al-Houthi, who launched an insurgency in 2004 and was reportedly killed by Yemeni army forces that September. Zaidi Shia make up about 40% of Muslims in Yemen and have ruled the country until the monarchy has ended in 1968 when Egypt backed Arab Yemen republic was established in the South and Northern Yemen Democratic republic backed by Soviet Union was established in the North. In 1990 the two republics were united.

Oil price has surged on the back of the news of the conflict, which is quite beneficial for Iran and Russia who suffer from lower oil prices.
